Sharing good news

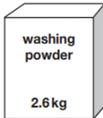

We hope you all had a lovely bank holiday weekend. One member of our staff certainly did - congratulations to Miss Terry on her engagement! Her lovely new ring was spotted by our eagle-eyed Year 5 children on Tuesday. We are so happy for you both, and wish you every happiness and a wonderful future together.

Year 6 SATS Week

Next week, schools across the country will administer the national end-of-Key Stage 2 tests in English Grammar, Punctuation and Spelling, Reading, Arithmetic, and Mathematics Reasoning. Our Year 6 children certainly are ready and well prepared to showcase just how fantastic they are. Remember: although these tests are important, they do not tell us everything, like how kind they are, how they make others laugh, how good they are at sport, or painting or drama. We know just how great these children are and wish them all the best next week and beyond! We will see you next week for breakfast, Monday to Thursday.

From last year's paper —

PTA Meeting

Our PTA — Friends of All Saints' - are meeting tonight (8th May) at school at 6pm. They are discussing the annual summer fayre, as well as the upcoming Fathers' Day shop and Spring Disco. Come along to discuss more fundraising opportunities and how you could help.

All Stars Cricket

Miss Hudson is running the All Stars Cricket Coaching (aimed at getting 5-8 year olds involved in cricket) at Copley Cricket Club starting on Sunday 12th May for eight weeks. The programme is for boys and girls, and encourages being active and fun! For more info., see page 5.

In our thoughts...

In worship on Sunday, Rev. Lees informed the congregation of Leyland Smith's illness. Mr Smith is hugely active in our school, as a former Chair of Governors and community member. We are holding him and his family close in our thoughts and prayers this week.

Coffee Morning

Meet the Headteachers!

On Friday 17th May at 9:00am, come into our Hall to discuss everything All Saints' - from successes to areas of improvement.

We hope to see you then!

Mental Health Awareness Week

This half term our PSHE topic is 'Time To Talk' and this will become a focus next week during Mental Health Awareness Week.

Each day next week, children will be taught some useful yoga or meditation tips to improve positive wellbeing. Similarly, they will be encouraged to talk and reflect on emotions and feelings. Our Diversity Defenders club will round the week off with a worship and quiz.

Postcard Competition and Exhibit

'DRAWING MATTERS'

'Drawing Matters' invites children aged 5-12 to create a postcard-sized piece of artwork that visually communicates something that matters to them. This could be a small or large issue, a personal or global concern and can take the form of a drawing, painting, photograph, collage or 3D work.

The theme 'DRAWING MATTERS' can be interpreted in many different ways. Sometimes, simply asking the question 'What matters to you?' is enough to elicit some intriguing responses, but it's also a great opportunity to make links to the local area, your home, family, politics, pastimes, likes/dislikes, health and well-being, travel, community...

You may want to consider:

What local issues are important to you? What makes you angry/happy/proud of where you live? - What message should our politicians be hearing? - Do you have a message you think the whole world should hear? What would this look like? - If you were sending a postcard to someone in the past/future, asking them to help look after our planet, what message would you give them and why? Who is your postcard addressed to? What do you want to tell them? - What picture / message would you send to someone living in a different country?

WHAT MEDIUM SHOULD I USE?

Your artwork can take the form of a drawing, collage, photograph, print, painting, mixed media or textile-based work. Artworks can be 2D or 3D, as long as it fits on an A6 postcard (10.5cm x 14.8cm).

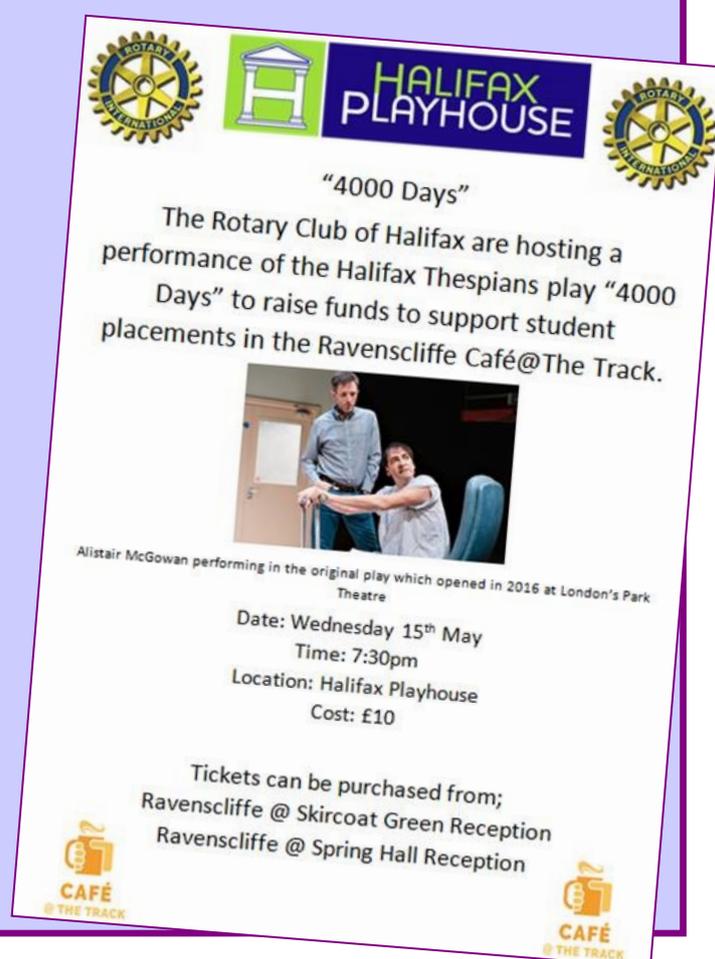

Submitting your entry

Please ensure on the reverse that you include:

- School name
- Child's name
- Age
- Title and materials
- A message (optional).

Entries cost £2 and need to be returned, with payment, to Mrs Butterworth by Friday 28th June.

Finished postcards will then be submitted by school to the Artworks. Pupils and families can visit the Gallery over the Summer holidays.
